

AGNÈS BOURÉLY

French artist, based in Geneva

Agnès Bourély (b. 1963) is a French artist living in Geneva, trained at the Beaux-Arts d'Angers and Paris-Sorbonne. Her practice centers on drawing, combining colored pencil, ink, and gouache on paper, often in polyptychs and large-scale formats.

Music plays a structural role in her work: rhythm guides gesture, and compositions unfold like visual scores. Precision and freedom, tension and fragility coexist in a singular visual language rooted in memory and movement. Each work becomes a space of resonance where forms interact like notes, inviting a sensory, immersive experience in which the eye “listens” as much as it looks.

COLLECTIONS

Her work is included in the Microsoft Collection and numerous private collections in the United States (Texas, New York, Chicago), Switzerland, France, and Singapore.
